

TALKING WALLS EDUCATOR'S WORKSHOP

Heritage education is an approach to teaching and learning that uses historic structures, primary documents, maps, and artifacts to enhance the teaching of social studies, history, math, science, language arts and visual arts.

This AWESOME interactive workshop travels to some fun & fabulous sites in the CSRA, provides participants with a huge resource kit full of primary sources and fun classroom ideas. We will cover Colonial, Civil War, and Progressive era history, African-American topics, art, architecture, cemeteries, and genealogy. More fun than you should have earning PLU's!
